CONGRESSIONAL HAPPENINGS IN WASHINGTON

By CLARENCE J. BROWN
Member of Congress

Last Wednesday for the second time in two weeks, Washington's transportation system was tied up by a strike of street car and bus operators and President Truman, after a scathing denunciation of the strikers as violators of their contract, ordered government operation of the transit lines by the Office of Defense Transportation, which immediately took charge and by Friday had the transportation system back in full operation. The transportation workers have a union contract which runs until next June, under which they are drawing $1.02 an hour, plus time and one half for over-time, and extra pay for night, Sunday and holiday work. The average compensation they received last year is reported to be $3440.00, but the men demand 80 cents per hour basic wage increase. The contract carried a provision that any difficulties arising between the workers and management would be arbitrated, and under no conditions would service to the public be stopped. Yet both strikes, or work stoppages, were called without notice to the public, seriously interfering with the operation of the Federal government. President Truman has served notice such violation of contracts will not be permitted in the future, anywhere in the United States.

The general labor and strike situation over the country is causing grave concern in Washington, as well as throughout the nation. The labor-management conference called by President Truman, which has been in session for some time now, seemingly is getting nowhere. Secretary of Labor Schwelb and his staff are making every endeavor to settle or compromise the many industrial disturbances and strikes now going on. In Congress there is a growing demand for the enactment of legislation to provide for and require collective bargaining in the settlement of labor disputes, and to require both Labor and Management to abide by and live up to their contracts made through collective bargaining. As usual, the general public suffers the most from these labor disturbances. The Rules Committee has sent to the floor of the House the Smith-May Bill, recently reported by the Military Affairs Committee which would repeal certain sections of the Smith-Connally Act, and make Unions equally responsible with Management for any violations of any employment contract, with the right for the aggrieved party to the contract to recover damages, and the provision that any Union violating such contract would lose its right to represent the workers involved for one year. The measure also carries a provision prohibiting both corporations and unions as such, from contributing or spending money for political purposes in any party primary, political convention or general election. This bill will probably be on the floor of the House for debate and vote some time late next week.

As predicted in this column last week, General Dwight D. Eisenhower has been named Chief of Staff of the United States Army to succeed General George C. Marshall and will assume his new duties almost immediately. Admiral Chester W. Nimitz has been named Chief of Naval Operations to succeed Admiral Ernest J. King, who is also retiring. Both Marshall and King are over-age, but continued in service during the war, asking for retirement only after peace had come.

Even before Congress completed action on legislation appropriating the final five hundred and fifty million dollars of the one billion three hundred and fifty million originally pledged by the United States as a contribution to the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration, for aid to the liberated people of the world. President Truman sent a message to Congress requesting an authorization and appropriation of an additional one billion three hundred and fifty million dollars for UNRRA. Hearings were immediately started before the Foreign Affairs Committee of the House, and Administration forces have been presenting an array of witnesses which included General Eisenhower, to urge favorable action on the legislation. The probable outcome will be a reduction in the amount authorized and appropriated on the basis of what is found necessary to continue relief after February, when present funds are expected to be depleted, until European crops are harvested in mid-summer.

President Truman has sent a message to the Congress urging passage of legislation setting up a broad Federal Health Program which will include: (1) Government aid for the construction of local hospitals and related facilities; (2) Federal aid for the development of public health, and maternal and child welfare services; (3) Federal aid for medical education and research; (4) Provision for prepayment of medical costs; and (5) Protection against loss of wages from sickness and disability. The President suggests Social Security taxes be increased four per cent on the first thirty-six hundred dollars of each individual's earnings to meet the costs of prepayment for medical care. In all probability an additional increase in Social Security taxes will be necessary to take care of the sickness and disability benefits, while costs of the other proposed services will be paid thru general taxation. The President insists the suggested program is not of "socialized medicine", although many legislators and medical organizations disagree. Legislation to carry out the President's suggestions has already been introduced. It is also understood the President will soon send to the Congress a somewhat similar message outlining a broad general program for Education.

'Committal Service' Sunday Evening

The annual candlelight 'Committal Service' which has become a colorful tradition of Cedarville College will be held next Sunday evening in the local Methodist Church at 7:30. The service is in charge of the Y.W.C.A. and Miss Claire Stormont of this village will preside during the exercises. The service was written by the late Miss Frances McChesney from the college in 1931. Miss McChesney wrote the service while a student. She was the daughter of the late Dr. W.R. McChesney president of the college. The service is a series of Biblical readings, choral numbers, organ and piano music which have as the objective the opportunity of freshmen women to commit themselves to the principles for which the group stands. The two readers are Lois Babb, Manchester, and Margaret Stormont, local. Donna Thompson of New Moorefield is soloist, duet by Betty Shroads, Xenia and Betty Crumrine, local. At the organ, Miss Mildred Trumbo church organist and Miss Gloria Abels at the piano. Mrs. Eloise Kling is the faculty advisor and Mrs. Mildred Foster is the music supervisor. ## Rev. F.M. Foster Will Be 93 Years Old Saturday Friends here of Rev. F. M. Foster, Wood Ridge, N. J., will no doubt want to have a part in the observance of the 92nd birthday of the former Cedarvillian, on Saturday, when writing in the Herald at various times in the past have been greatly appreciated. His memory of local historical events has been remarkable and we bespeak for him many more years regardless of his present age. While a "card" shower would be late, we know he would appreciate a letter from his former friends that would no doubt refresh many events of his boyhood days. His present address is: Rev. F. M. Foster, Wood Ridge Ave., Wood Ridge, New Jersey. Cedarvillians should mail a card or write a few lines. It would be a 'letter from home' in each case.

FARMER NOW CAN GET ORCHARD FERTILIZER

For the first time in several years, fruit growers can get orchard fertilizers of the kinds and in the amounts they want to buy for the application during November and December, when the maximum results are produced. Fruit tree roots can take up nitrogen during the dormant period and make the plant food available at the earliest possible date likely in the spring. Fall or winter applications of orchard fertilizer should be made when the ground surface is thawed and moist. They should not be made on snow or on slopes if the ground is frozen.

Recommended rates of application for apples, plums, and cherries are one-fourth pound of a 20 per cent nitrogen fertilizer for each inch in diameter of the tree trunk. Ammonium nitrate carries 32.5 per cent nitrogen, and nitrate of soda contains about 16 per cent nitrogen. Fertilizer for grapes and small fruits is applied in bands along the rows at a rate 300 pounds per acre. For peaches, the rate of application varies from one-third pound for a small tree to a maximum of five pounds for a tree in full bearing.

MANURE SHED SAVES LOTS OF PLANT FOOD

A shed built to protect manure from weathering and from fermentation on the average County farm could save the farm owner about $175 worth of plant food a year, in the opinion of J. A. Slipher, extension soil conservationist, Ohio State University, who says that weathering will remove almost half the original value of manure. Tests show that increases in crop yields caused by application of manure were worth $3.30 a ton for protected manure and only $1.70 a ton for manure taken from an open lot. The loss of value from manure in the open is understandable when anyone remembers that 300 tons of water falls on a fifth-acre barnlot during the four months of winter.

A fence to reduce the size of the barnlot is a money saver if the farmer will not build a manure shed. The trampling of livestock packs down manure so the loss from weathering is considerably reduced. Another conserving of manure is plenty of bedding, as wheat straw absorbs twice its own weight of liquids.

About 500 pounds of bedding should be used for each ton of manure. Out straw absorbs more moisture than wheat straw. Unbroken corn stalks absorb little moisture but shelled stalks are highly satisfactory. Mr. Slipher recommends placing 30 lbs. of superphosphate with each ton of manure to reduce loss of nitrogen.

ALFALFA SEED

Ohio harvested a near-record crop of 33,000 bushels of alfalfa seed in 1944, but the 1945 production in the state is expected to be only 5,900 bu. U. S. 1945 alfalfa seed production is estimated at 1,170,000 bushels, about a normal crop.

ANIMAL HEALTH LOSSES HIGH

Animal and poultry losses from disease and parasites in Ohio amount to over $25,000,000 in an average year it has been pointed out by animal health specialists. Most of this loss was in swine and livestock, with a smaller loss in poultry.

Close attention to animal health, pays production dividends. In poultry, for example, sick hens producing 80 eggs a year make the eggs cost 40 cents a dozen to the farmer. Healthy hens, producing 200 eggs a year can do it for only 18 cents a dozen cost to the farmer.

DDT RESULTS

Kansas trials with DDT in controlling horn flies, barn flies and lice on cattle are reported very enthusiastically. The tests were supervised by Kansas State College and the U. S. Department of Agriculture. A five percent solution of DDT was reported to last for a season in a barn, and a 0.2 of 1 per cent solution remained effective for a month.

CATTLE FEEDING

Prost damage to corn stimulated the largest shipments of feeder cattle into the corn belt in October ever recorded for that month. In eight corn-belt states where complete shipment records are available, the July-October shipments were 27 percent higher than in 1944. Southeastern cornbelt states sent 31 percent more feeder cattle up to November than in the

A series of films showing some of the phases of practices in animal husbandry in the corn belt plus a display of articles made by the students in the departments of home economics and agriculture will also have a major part on the Corn show.

A short lecture and question and answer period on soil conservation as well as a turkey raffle will make up the program heightened by incidental music.

West, secretary of association; Miss Jimisiana Brasfield, head of the department of home economics, and Frank Gordon, head of the department of agriculture.

COLLEGE NEWS

Thursday, Dec. 6th, Dr. W. A. Hammond, President of the W. A. Hammond Drierite Company of Xenia will give his lecture on the Atomic Bomb in the College Chapel at 11 A. M. The meeting is being held under the auspices of the College Y.W.C.A. Dr. Hammond has given this lecture many times recently before various groups, and due to general interest in the subject has many requests for future addresses on this one of the foremost subjects of the day. The meeting is open to all.

Next Sabbath evening at the Cedarville Methodist Church, the college YWCA Committal Service will be held. Owing to war conditions the service has not been held for several years. This meeting will see the resumption of this annual beautiful service. The YW members are endeavoring to make this a very impressive service. The impressive ritual was written by Miss Frances McChesney, A.B. '31. Miss Claire Stormont is president of the YW and will preside. The public is most cordially invited.

President and Mrs. Vayhinger were at Covington last Sabbath where he gave the message for the Presbyterian Congregation.

Do you remember the comment about the "Hello, Mom," telephone message a short while ago? That one was from the west. Recently a young lad in London, England, feeling the urge to hear a certain voice, called his girl friend in Cedarville, and thereby two young hearts were made happy. Miss Mariana Fredericks was on the Cedarville end of the line. This scribe was 'born 30 years too soon'. He never got to call his sweetheart on a local call until long after the knot was tied to say nothing of an overseas call. Who said, 'Let's go back to the good old days'? Congratulations, Miss Mariana, and may the dreams of youth come true.

Orville Labig, A.B. '39, visited College Tuesday. He has recently returned from the Pacific area, where he was connected with the 41st Bomber Group. He made many flights over Okinawa and other Japanese islands with his group after being commissioned a flight officer. He plans to resume teaching in one of the Montgomery County schools and was here in connection with getting his teachers certificate renewed. He has not received his discharge yet, but since he has 128 points to date there is little doubt that he will soon be in civvie.

FARM PRICES TO DROP AS WAGES GO UP

Sharp revision in government farm price policies after the postwar adjustment period appears to be shaping up as a goal of the Truman administration.

That revision would take the form of lower price guarantees for some crops—particularly those which now can be produced much more cheaply through use of mechanized methods. It also might result in somewhat higher prices for those requiring a high degree of labor.

Commodities which would be reduced in price include cotton and wheat, two major export crops. Under present government price laws, these commodities are too high for a world market amply supplied by other producing countries. Even now, the United States is employing subsidies to permit its cotton and wheat flour to compete in the export market.

The export subsidy is 4 cents a pound on cotton and 18 cents a hundred pounds on flour.

Indications on administration thinking have been given in recent speeches by Secretary of State Byrnes and Secretary of Agriculture Anderson.

Byrnes in a speech at Charleston, S. C., last week, outlined foreign trade policies of the administration. Those policies, he said, the elimination of barriers to world trade and use of export subsidies in exceptional cases only.

Speaking before state commissioners and secretaries of agriculture at Memphis, Anderson declared price goals of present farm laws "have little relation to reality" in their application to some commodities. He cited cotton and cautioned that it faced possible loss of market at home and abroad.

As administration leaders see the situation, this country has only three courses open to it:

1. Reduce prices of the export commodities so that they may move freely into world markets.
2. Subsidize exports if present price policies are retained.
3. Re-establish production controls to limit output to domestic requirements if present price policies are kept and export subsidies are eliminated.

The Byrnes and Anderson speeches indicate an administration preference for the first course. It would be supplemented by international collaboration designed to stabilize prices at levels fair to both farmers and consumers and to divide world markets among producing nations so as to prevent cut-throat competition.

Recent developments indicate that the administration may receive strong support from some farm groups on a revision of price policies. Albert S. Goss, master of the National Grange, came out last week for a "modernized" formula for determining farm price goals.

On the other hand, there is strong opposition in Congress to proposals which would have the effect of reducing farm prices. That opposition is led by Chairman Thomas (D., Oklahoma) of the Senate Agriculture Committee, and Rep. Pace (D., Georgia), in the House of Representatives. Both are sponsoring bills which would establish higher farm price goals.

Cedarville Locker Storage Now Open

The Cedarville Locker Storage plant opened for business Thursday after receiving a certificate from the State Food Inspector. It is an entirely new plant of the latest design. The plant will be under the management of D. H. Reynolds. H. A. Bates will be on hand to cut up your beef, pork, veal or lamb.

ALBINO PHEASANT SHOT BY CEDARVILLE HUNTER

Clarence "Dutch" Hertenstein has reported the prize of the season. While hunting recently on the large farm that he operates near here he saw to his amazement an albino pheasant, which he killed. The albino pheasant was a young bird of the current season.

MAJOR ROBERT COLLINS BACK FROM TRINIDAD

Major James Robert Collins, formerly of this place, is back in this country after spending three years in the army medical corps, and will be discharged at Camp Atterbury, Ind. this week. Dr. Collins is a brother of John and Roger Collins of this place and is a son of Mrs. A.G. Collins, Xenia.

LOWER PRICES FOR FARM PRODUCTS

In this issue we carry a reprinted story out of Washington that should be not only interest but concern to every farmer. The strike situation among all classes of industrial workers which may yet put five million people out of employment for weeks or months, is to have a great bearing on the cost of living, in fact lower farm prices on foods is now demanded by the CIO while that organization demands a 30 percent increase in wages.

The CIO plays a heavy hand with the Truman administration and is expected to give in to that group for all its demands, irrespective of industrial, farm, wholesale or retail profits. It is known that Secretary Anderson has been unable to put in force certain policies due to many of his subordinates having Communist leanings, all named by Franklin D. Roosevelt.

From the outbreak of the war the farmer has been a regimented victim while labor and industry have reaped untold profits. Even before the war Roosevelt issued a tirade against the farm group as unpatriotic because the farmer asked that the cost of labor be included in computing farm prices. Roosevelt using the then Secretary of Agriculture, Henry Wallace, who failed financially as publisher of a farm paper, to fix farm prices under a plan of regimentation. Wallace picked 1914, panic year as an average year for farm prices.

To sell the plan of holding down farm prices thousands of farmers through the AAA were paid to travel the land and wave the inflation flag if farmers did not accept the plan year prices. All the time labor and industry were reaping riches the farmer was given his handout much on the principle of the fellow that sold his vote at the polls on election day. When farmers become restive the subsidy idea was put in force to give the farmer a handout much like the bribe. Roosevelt went on the theory that every man had his price and the AAA was the vehicle to keep the Communist hand on the farmer.

The Truman administration is to abolish all subsidy payments after this coming June, according to all reports. This means the "take-home" pay of the farmer is to be less while the administration will in the end grant all the CIO asks, irrespective of inflation. There is a demand now that the administration take over the auto industry. If this is possible the same high-handed trick can be played on every farmer in the nation.

With Truman controlling the tariff on farm products, grains and meats can be imported from abroad to directly compete and force down even the 1914 prices. Economists that once took the platform for the AAA plan, now appear before farm groups and warn lower prices are a certainty, while the farmer will pay higher prices for all he purchases from farm machinery to baby's shoes.

There is open ground for criticism against farm organizations for not taking a more active hand in the price fixing picture. The Grange has opposed some of the policies but not as vigorous as it might have done. As for the American Farm Bureau, it had too many "Murray Lincolns" with pinkish views that appealed to Roosevelt, Wallace, the "insky" and the following that belonged to and believed in Communism.

The day is not far away when every farmer in the nation will have his eyes opened and then he will see who has been the traitors of the farm cause and why, and who the traitors were that opposed war prices for farm products.

We suggest that a movement be started to take over "Blannerhassett" Island in the Ohio river as a burying ground for the farm traitors. This little island has a historical story in connection with Benedict Arnold and his plan to sell out his country. Congress should purchase the island so that future generations will not have to pay an admission to visit the graves of the nations leading traitors. We only know of one instance where an admission is charged to get into a cemetery, and Congress has been asked to appropriate $50,000 all because the public is not responding to the "buy-a-ticket" idea of admission to a graveyard.

FARMERS SHOULD BACK GENERAL MOTORS

There is a great stake at issue in the fight being waged against General Motors Corporation, makers of several different kinds of automobiles, by the CIO employees now on strike. When the time comes that your employees demand to know just what your bank account is and the age of your wife, it is time to call a halt. We have no hesitancy in endorsing General Motors in this fight because the War Labor Board is composed of dummies under the control of the CIO, each an appointee of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The fight over arbitration is nothing but a smoke screen just so with the plea of the labor leaders that the company must not increase the price of cars in the face of a thirty per cent wage increase. To bring the issue down to each farmer in the nation, all farm labor, if organized, and this is certain to come should big corporations be forced to submit to the whip of the Communist crowd, will have to expose his bank account and his personal affairs to the labor marauders. The farmers should lend open moral support to General Motors, U. S. Steel Corporation and other concerns that produce what the farmer must purchase. In the end higher wages, and wages now are higher than before the war in most of the industries, means higher prices for everything used in the home and on the farm.

The farmers should support General Motors for another reason, likewise Ford, Chrysler and other companies, slated as victims in this raid. The CIO is composed of the radical elements, mostly from Communist ranks. Hundreds of the leaders that sit across the tables for discussion do not even have Anglo-Saxon names. Many of them do not even speak anything but broken English and most of them have blood coursing their veins that comes from the turbulent nations of Europe that do not even recognize the Christian religion. The CIO in no sense can boast of honor or patriotism from the standpoint of the AFL or even the United Miners.

There is much more at stake in the position taken by General Motors than the hourly wage rate. American honor is at stake and all classes of citizens should rally to uphold General Motors. Write your Congressman, Senators and even President Truman and let them know you are watching the outcome of this fight and that right must triumph in support of the constitution that guarantees every man protection in the rights of property.

The Kipper Kettle

It is a bad week for news when someone does not drag out an old skelton from the New Deal closet.

The Truman administration inherited what Roosevelt, Wallace, Murray and a lot of pinks and Red Russian Communists have been doing behind closed doors and keeping the public in ignorance. The fight in China between the Nationalists and Communists has resulted in civil war. We have given millions to China in war material and credit in behalf of the Nationalist cause. There have been signs of a dead rat in the State Department for several years. When Ambassador

Patrick Hurley resigned Tuesday charging that underlings in the State Department were undermining our part in the Nationalist movement in behalf of the Communists, all the Reds in Congress, and five Western Congressmen elected by that element came to the front for the Red cause.

Poor old Jimmy Byrnes, Secretary of State, like Clinton P. Anderson of the Ag Department, found the Communist clique, many of the underlings picked by the Bowers District in New York by FDR. Will President Truman clean out these departments? He has named former General George C. able appointment, but his hands will be tied unless there is a house-cleaning and Truman must do the job or order it done—and at once. No wonder Walter Winchell has been picturing a third world war just around the corner and that the American people did not know what was going on behind their backs. Neither did they when FDR held a tight grip on the throttle. The record speaks for itself with each exposure.

The Baptists and Episcopal churchmen might be a little hard on some of our top men in public affairs or those who seek the spot light. One of our good Democratic publishers who does not relish the New Deal in private and says little or nothing public, knowing this column is an open forum sends us a story that appeared in the Buckeye Tavern, the official publication of the Ohio liquor interests. In this publication we find a page of pictures and a page story that deals with happenings in Congress.

An enlarged picture at the left of the page is Harry Truman, with another on the right of Secretary Clinton P. Anderson, head of the Ag Department. Below are pictures of Congressman Doughton, N.C., head of the powerful Ways and Means Committee. Secretary of the Treasury

Fred Vinson and Stewart Berkshire, deputy Internal Revenue Collector in charge of the Alcoholic Tax Unit. Under the President's picture there is a short story which pictures Truman as a friend of the industry by taking in consideration its needs and by those he has appointed for department heads as friendly to the cause.

Mr. Anderson controls the amount of grain that goes into liquor of all kinds. The story says Sec. Vinson is behind the bill to void the war tax of $3 a gallon. Should this publication fall into the laps of the Baptist churchmen that opposed a college of that faith granting honor degrees to the President because he loved his red liquor and delighted in playing poker, may start another local war against the Truman administration.

Patrick Hurley, until this week an ambassador to China, appointed by Roosevelt, is a millionaire Chicago Democrat of the old school that owns banks and railroad stocks as well as being a manufacturer. He had been in the Woodrow Wilson cabinet. All this makes him look like an American citizen. Hurley says the State Department is double-dealing and supporting the Russian Communists in China. He reported the same to Jimmy Byrnes. The Communists in the State Department, named originally by Roosevelt tipped off the Hurley report to Byrnes to a group of Western pinks in Congress and an attack was made on Hurley on the floor the day following. This enraged Hurley and he resigned at once and gave his story to the public. All of this brought the New Deal pinks to the front with more lies to fool

"Little Harry", the Missouri wonder, and the American people. Little Joe Stalin has Churchill and Truman on his hip. Every government department has been loaded with Communists, who were put in office by FDR and Henry Wallace. Much of our trouble in China is due to the trip made to that country by Wallace on Roosevelt's order.

The strike situation hit the hog market Thursday for a big drop in prices. It is said sales of all kinds of meat have dropped in Detroit, Chicago, Cleveland, and other great industrial centers. More than a quarter of a million men in the auto industry alone are out of work and we are informed many of them did not have provisions or finance to carry them two weeks. It is not because these employees have not had good wages but they are 'better spenders and even higher wages would not be a guarantee of two weeks sustenance ahead to meet some other calamity.

THE CHRISTIAN AND HIS ECONOMIC RELATIONS

LESSON TEXT: Deut. 8:17, 18; Luke 12:13-21.
 GOLDEN TEXT: A man's life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth.—Luke 12:15.

Peace and the postwar period find America in a fact the entire world, plunged into tremendous economic problems far too deep for any man or group of men to solve. We honor those who are laboring day and night to meet the threat of unemployment, the question of reconversion and readjustment to civilian production, of feeding a hungry world, etc. But we say again, they cannot find the answers in the wisdom of men; they must have the wisdom of God.

We need to turn anew to the economic principles taught in God's Word. If men will only recognize them, and deal with their fellow-men in the light of their teaching, the many knotty problems will surely find solution.

There is need, first of all, of a fundamental philosophy concerning possessions which will make man deal properly with them. The first section of our lesson is to us.

I. Think Right About Wealth (Deut. 8:17, 18)
 How trenchant and altogether fitting are the words of Scripture!
 Nothing could describe our times more succinctly and accurately than verse 17. Men are glorying in their ability to do things.

Man has even gone so far as to develop a weapon of warfare, the atomic bomb, so powerful that he fears it might be used to wipe out all civilization. Even secular leaders are now saying that we must have a spiritual rebirth if we are to use such things for good and not for evil. Man needs God now more than ever.

We honor those who by skillful hand and brilliant brain produce excellent and thrilling results. Our question is, How many are there who say, God has done this thing; He gave the strength and the skill; His is the honor! Scripture tells us that who recognize Him, but they are few indeed. Their name is Jelop who say in their heart, "My power and the might of mine hand hath gotten me this wealth" (v. 17).

Joseph Parker points out, that a deuce fact stated in verse 18 "What a blow this text strikes at one of the most popular and mischievous fallacies in common life, namely, that man is the maker of his own money!"

II. Act Right About Wealth (Luke 12:13-21).

Most of us think of money as something we want to get hold of and use for ourselves, but if it belongs to God and we are only his stewards, we must put away that impulse. "Take heed," said Jesus, "and beware of covetousness" (v.
 15). It is a deadly and deadening sin, all too common even among Christians.

The teaching of this whole passage of Scripture is so directly opposite to all ideas regarding such matters accepted by the world at large, that it may be a total surprise to some readers and attendants at Bible schools.

The yardstick of success in the world for an individual, an organization, or a nation, yes, even for many a church, is the possession of wealth, or property, or other "things." Write letters to bank presidents and heads of business on the hearts and minds of our boys and girls, "A man's life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth" (v. 15).

The one who was known to his friends (and to himself) as "the rich man" (v. 16), but whom God knew as a "fool" (v. 20), had more than he could use for himself. He had to build new and bigger barns, and could not see the "barns" that were already prepared for, as Ambrose says, "Thine are the barns, the bosoms of the needy, the houses of widows, the mouths of orphans and infants."

He was a fool who loved money itself and for himself. One wonders what he had to say for himself when that very night he was called into the presence of God to give an account of his stewardship (v. 20). If you are similarly situated and have the same attitude, what will you say in that day?

There is an important point which we must note. Jesus expressly repudiated the connecting of His name with the so-called "social gospel" in His reply (v. 14) to the question of the covetous fellow who regarded his inheritance as of more importance than brotherly love.

Those who are ignoring the gospel of redemption and claiming Jesus as a social reformer, or the "judge and divider" of some new economic solution for the world's ills, need to read and ponder this verse.

Every Christian is interested deeply in social problems, but knows that the first concern of Christ and His followers is the souls of men.

$200,000 Left For Veterans

County commissioners announced Monday they have received assurance that Greene County will receive about $200,000 under the will of Chase Stewart, Springfield, formerly of Yellow Springs, who died Oct. 18, 1944. The estate is now in final stages of settlement, according to Homer C. Corry, Springfield lawyer and executor of the estate.

Stewart, a former Springfield attorney, willed $50,000 each to Greene, Clark Champaign and Hardin counties. He stipulated the money must be used for medical care and hospitalization of World War II veterans. Commissioners have not decided how the local $50,000 bequest will be spent. Born in Yellow Springs, Stewart moved from this county with his family in 1880 to Hardin county. The family located later in Springfield. His estate was valued at $230,000.

same period for 1944, and the 1945 total was the largest since 1940. More cattle are reported going into feedlots outside the cornbelt than were fed last season. California and Pennsylvania have taken unusually large numbers and increases other places more than off set decreased shipments into Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Arizona. The demand for feeders is expected to continue through December so it seems probable a near-record number of cattle will be fed this season.

HOG MARKETING

The October inspected slaughter of 2,329,666 head was the smallest total for that month since 1917, except for 1935. The total was an increase of 21 percent over that of September but was 45 percent below the number of October 1944, and was 47 percent less than the 5-year average for October. The total of 31,073,084 hogs slaughtered in the first 10 months of 1945 was 47 percent less than the total for the same month of 1944, and was 31 percent below the 5-year average. Marketings are increasing seasonally but supplies are far short of demand and the market is strong. Hogs coming to market are heavier than a year ago, the average for barrows and gilts the week ending November 10, being 262 lbs., and that was 35 pounds heavier than the average for the corresponding week in 1944. Some marketmen believe producers should avoid excessive marketings in December and January.
